

GET LUCKY GOLF × ERNIE ELS

Commercial summary — what the founding 5% rides · August 2026 · Confidential

The business. Get Lucky Golf is the fourball's money game in an app — skins, nassau and dots on a live ledger, settled on the 18th — with the one thing no scorecard app can offer on the slip: a Santam-underwritten $100,000 hole-in-one the whole group buys into. Peer games are free forever; the company earns from a $10/month subscription and the insured jackpot — never from the players' bets.

The trajectory

	This round	2029 — 3-yr plan	2032
Company valuation	R53.3m	R185.0m	R967.8m
Subscribers	3,727 2027	15,085	100,183
Total revenue	R14.5m 2027	R61.7m	R322.6m
Ernie's 5% stake value	R2.67m	R9.25m	R48.4m

Milestones from the R8.0m founding round (15% at R53.3m post-money) and the published three-year plan. Every forward milestone is struck at a flat 3.0× revenue; the round itself implies 3.69×, so the rating compresses as the company scales. Full driver model in the pro forma workbook.

How the company gets there

The recurring line	A $10/month subscription with organizer-pays economics: every slip seats three playing partners who experience the full product free — the invite loop the growth is built on. Zero to 100,183 subscribers over 72 months, churn struck at a hard 5.5%/month.
The margin engine	The group-pooled insured jackpot: entries net 66% after the 24% premium, prize risk 100% with Santam — whose R9m, three-year sponsorship is signed.
The channels	25 camera-rigged flagship courses (adding 25 a year), simulator integration from 2027, and territory sponsorship on the signed South African template.
Discipline	Costs budgeted line by line; peak drawdown R6.0m against the R8m raise; EBITDA positive from 2028; no further round assumed — so the 5% is non-diluting in structure and undiluted in practice.

What the founding 5% rides
